BLOOMSBURY

Library

Dear Prof Murthy,

Bloomsbury is happy to present to you the book titled, The Smart City Transformations, authored by Amitabh Satyam and Igor Calzada.

Developing Smart cities is a stated objective of many governments and corporations worldwide. Smart cities meet the dual objectives of sustainability and improvement in the quality of life.

This book is a result of collaboration between two global thought leaders - one from the industry and the other from the academia to establish the framework of the topic of Smart. Smart concepts integrate a diverse set of assets, expertise, and capabilities, and invoke the areas of business management, behavioral science, political science, electronics, computing, mathematics, economics, city administration, project management, and governance.

We believe that this book has achieved a seamless integration of these topics to develop the underpinnings of the Smart concept and its applications. Smart transformation is indeed the revolution of the twenty-first century.

We are looking forward to your thoughts on the book. If you wish to arrange a discussion led by the authors or purchase this book in large quantities, please feel to write back to us.

Best regards,

Praveen Tiwari
