As a committed tutor specializing in Mental Health Nursing. I hold a Master of science in Nursing (MHN Nursing) degree from Dayananda Sagar University, College of Nursing Sciences. I'm committed to helping students achieve academic excellence and become competent healthcare professionals. I've developed a strong educational foundation and research-oriented approach, fostering critical thinking, problem-solving and evidence-based practice. In addition to my tutoring experience, I'm also passionate about research in Mental health- Nursing. My research focus areas include nursing education, patient safety and health care quality improvement. I believe that research informs practice, and I'm dedicated to integrating the latest research findings into my teaching.
